BOY DETECTIVE WORKS AT HILO

Lad Runs Down Another Youngster Who Had Vic-timized School.

(Special Bulletin Correspondence.) HILO, May 30.—Stories of young sleuths and boy detectives are more often found between the covers of dime novels than in real life, but Hilo may pride herself in possessing one genuine specimen of this rare species, a Hawaiian boy, named John Kahaka, who is an inmate of the Hilo Boarding School.

It appears that another young inmate of the same institution had an adopted father, living at Pohakuni, and that the daughter of this gentleman who officiated in loco parentis is employed as a teacher in one of the public schools. Last week this lad showed signs of having accumulated much ill-gotten wealth. Initiating the predatory rich of other climes he lavished gifts on his friends with both hands. Hats and similar articles, candy and even small presents of coin were given to his friends and a regular spread was given to the youngsters in one of the lumber yards on the waterfront. Finally the young man disappeared entirely from sight, and it was then that John Kahaka, the boy detective, was detailed on the case by the school authorities.

John located his quarry in the lumber yard where he had established temporary headquarters, and where he sat in state surrounded by his various newly acquired objects of value to a boyish heart. The detective pounced on him, and soon the whole miserable tale was laid bare.

It appeared that the culprit had burglarized the house of his father in law, selecting an hour during the forenoon when his adopted father was absent and the daughter was engaged in her school work. He found the key which opened a trunk in which this lady kept her valuables, and from it he took a watch, valued at $35, as well as about sixteen dollars in cash. The watch he sold to a Japanese jeweler on Front street. The boy asked seventy-five cents for his treasure, but the honest Oriental coughed up a dollar, declining to take advantage of one so young.

The young detective made the Japanese give back the watch, and he also managed to trace where most of the rest of the money had gone, doing some really good work on the case. The culprit is now in the hands of the juvenile court authorities and will get his sentence this week.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

Physicians Prescribe Castoria.

CASTORIA has met with pronounced favor on the part of physicians, pharmacological societies and medical authorities. It is used by physicians with results most gratifying. The extended use of Castoria is unquestionably the result of three facts: 1st, The indisputable evidence that it is harmless; 2nd, That it not only allays stomach pain and quiets the nerves, but assimilates the food; 3rd, It is an agreeable and perfect substitute for castor oil. It is absolutely safe. It does not contain any opium, morphine, or other narcotic and does not stupefy. It is unlike Soothing Syrup, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, etc. This is a good deal for a medical journal to say. Our duty, however, is to expose larger and record the means of advancing health. The day for poisoning innocent children through greed or ignorance ought to end. To our knowledge, Castoria is a remedy which produces composure and health, by regulating the system—not by stupefying it—and our readers are entitled to the information.—Dr. J. H. Elliott, M. D., New York City.

COPPER MERGER TO COME SOON

Morgan, Guggenheim and Standard Oil Interests Reach Agreement.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Following a series of conferences between the Morgan, Guggenheim and Standard Oil companies, it became known today that the long anticipated copper merger would soon be announced to Wall Street.

In view of the Supreme Court's ruling in the Standard Oil case, the copper magnates have decided that they can combine to bring about more economical operation of the industry without being charged with causing any "unreasonable" restraint of trade.

In order that the merger shall not arouse legislative investigation, however, or be liable to Federal prosecution along the lines of the government suits against the Oil Trust and the Tobacco Trust, its central corporations, it was said today, will be linked together by "gentlemen's agreements."

Chief among the corporations to be affiliated in the merger is the American Smelting and Refining Company, the capital stock of which was increased from $100,000,000 to $115,000,000 by a vote of the stockholders on January 5 last.

HAWAII SUPERVISOR PLANS LONG TRIP

(Special Bulletin Correspondence.) HILO, May 30.—Supervisor Austin is planning to go to the mainland for a vacation trip, leaving Hilo in the Honolulu during the beginning of August. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Austin. It is possible that Mr. and Mrs. Austin may proceed as far as Philadelphia to meet the ship Edward Sewall, of which young Ernest Austin is the third mate. In this case Mrs. Austin will return to Hilo in the Sewall, taking the long journey around the Horn. Wm. Drummond, who was for fourteen years connected with the Honolulu Customs house force, but who is now with Peapack & Co. will take the place of Austin as manager of the Hilo branch of that firm while Austin is away. Austin will probably be absent about two months.
